This image shows a blank, aged, cream-colored page, likely a ledger or notebook page. The page features vertical red lines, suggesting it is designed for recording data in columns. The paper has a slightly textured appearance and shows signs of wear, including a small tear at the top left corner. The left edge of the page is bound into a dark, textured cover, and the binding structure is visible. The overall lighting is soft, highlighting the texture of the paper and the cover.

This image shows a single sheet of white paper with horizontal blue or grey ruling lines. The lines are evenly spaced and run across the width of the page. There is no handwriting or other markings on the paper.

1. The first part of the paper is a list of the names of the persons who have been elected to the office of the President of the United States. The names are listed in alphabetical order, and the year of their election is given in parentheses.

This image shows a blank, aged, cream-colored page, possibly a ledger or notebook page. The page features several vertical red lines that divide it into columns. The paper has a slightly textured appearance and shows signs of wear, including some discoloration and a small tear on the left edge. The page is set against a dark background.
